

DVD Menu Guidelines

- Create the title menu graphics for a DVD. The content must be to a fake film or television show. An exception may be a sequel to an existing film (Ghostbusters 3: Son of Slimer). You will randomly pick the genre of the film/show from “The Vader Helmet of Destiny.” The credits and graphics must represent and reflect the film’s content. Create a mood and set the tone for the film/show - this includes typeface, motion, color palette, and all other visual aspects. Try to avoid using current film footage. Basic audio is required. Once the DVD has settled on the final screen look and all the buttons are ready to be pressed by the viewer, there should be some movement that would loop.

- For additional references beyond the examples shown in class, do a search for “DVD Menu” on YouTube as well as looking through your own DVD collection. Use the following website for a description of your genre: <http://www.filmsite.org/genres.html>

- The following minimum buttons need to be included:

- Play
- Setup
- Special Features
- Scene Selection
