What is the SpaceTime Traveling Student Exhibition?

The SpaceTime Traveling Student Exhibition is a locally hosted version of the SpaceTime Competition & Exhibition featured in the SpaceTime Student Gallery at the annual SIGGRAPH conference. This prestigious student competition is hosted each year by the ACM SIGGRAPH Education Committee.

How do I request the exhibition for my venue?

You use this form to host the SpaceTime Traveling Exhibition. You may fill it out and submit it at the SIGGRAPH conference Education Booth. Or you may e-mail the SpaceTime Traveling Student Exhibition Curator (see below) being sure to include the information requested in this form. Most sites hosting the exhibition are schools or ACM SIGGRAPH Chapters, however other venues are possible. If you don't receive a response to your request within a week, please contact the SpaceTime Coordinator. This will ensure that the form you have submitted or the e-mail you have sent has been properly received.

What is included in the exhibition?

The SpaceTime Traveling Student Exhibition includes print, animation and interactive works. If possible, we ask that venues arrange to exhibition all three elements. There are two sets of prints that travel, large and small.

What are my responsibilities?

- 1) Sign-up to request the exhibition
- 2) Remain in contact with the curator, especially if your contact information should change.
- 3) Ensure that you have received all of the elements from the exhibition by e-mailing a list of contents recieved to the space time curator upon arrival
- 4) Acquire a DVD player/viewer and a computer to show the animations and interactive work.
- 5) Install, promote, and advertise the exhibition.
- 6) Depending on the schedule, store the exhibition for a period of time before or after your event.
- 7) Pack and ship the exhibition to the next venue, making sure that everything is included in shipping.
